

The Echosex Baby, the smaller protégé of the original award-winning Gurus' Echosex, produces enchanting echoes with a distinctive, ethereal, almost primordial sound, all without hauling around an original, vintage Binson Ecorec unit. The Echosex Baby has all the same controls and features that bring to life expansive lush tones of its predecessor, all without the tube of the larger Echosex. The preamp section is designed with a Class A FET to faithfully reproduce nuances of tube behavior. You'll not be going out on a limb with an experimental piece of gear either. The Echosex Baby has already found a home in the pedalboards of stars like Steve Lukather of Toto, and Guy Pratt of Pink Floyd and David Gilmour. Enjoy the Echosex Baby for its space-saving size and downright enchanting tones.
